

Bistro du Vin

Wine First. Always.

From the very beginning, Hotel du Vin was created with one guiding principle, the wine comes first. Our cellar is more than a list; it's a journey through vineyards, vintages, and stories, carefully curated to surprise, delight, and inspire. Every bottle has a character, a place it calls home, and a reason it's found its way here.

This philosophy has shaped everything we do. Exceptional wines, enjoyed without pretense, deserve food crafted with the same respect and attention, honest, flavoursome bistro dishes that let the wine shine. The magic lies in the pairing: the way a sip can lift a flavour, or a bite can reveal a hidden note in the glass.

That's why our wine list comes before the menu. Because here, the glass is the starting point, the dish its perfect companion. At Hotel du Vin, we invite you to take your time, explore, and savour, because every great glass deserves a great plate alongside it.

To Decant or Not to Decant?

The question of 'should wine always be decanted' is regularly asked by our guests. Before we can answer this let us look at the two main reasons why we decant wine. Firstly, to oxidate the wine through the transfer of wine from the bottle to the decanter, and the increased surface area of the wine to air contact in the decanter. This oxidation helps to soften the acidity in the wine and makes the wine 'smoother' and more enjoyable to drink. Secondly, the process of decanting helps to remove any sediment from the wine. However, does this mean that all wines should be decanted, and the answer is no!

Styles of wine that get the most benefit from being decanted are those either with high levels of sediment or bigger more full-bodied reds such as Barolo from Italy and Cabernet based wines. These styles of wine are full bodied and high in tannins, the decanting process therefore helps to make these wines softer and more enjoyable to drink. Other wines, for instance most whites and lighter reds such as Pinot Noir, tend not to benefit from the decanting process and may even deteriorate from being decanted. However, ultimately the choice of whether you wish to have your wine decanted or not is yours, we will just recommend the wines that benefit most from the decantation process.

Old World vs New World

Terms used frequently in the wine world, but what do they really mean? Well, there are a number of differences between New World and Old World wine growing countries and all of them have exceptions to the rules! Primarily most European countries are classed as Old World, since wine making originated in these countries and dates back hundreds of years. However, a more significant difference is the labelling terminology. Most wines that originate from Old World countries, such as France, Spain and Italy, are named after the place where they are produced. Whereas wines from the New World are often named after the grape variety or the brand name given by the producer, or both!

For example, Chablis, Bordeaux, Rioja, Barolo, Sancerre and Champagne are all places that are iconic for producing wines and they all have strict laws over what they can and cannot do in their grape growing and wine making, even down to which varieties they can or cannot grow. The New World does not have the same type of laws, hence you can have a 'Chardonnay' labelled wine from all over the world. However, unless you know which Old World wine region is permitted to grow which varieties you may not know that Chablis make wines from Chardonnay grapes and Sancerre from Sauvignon Blanc grapes!
